Call for Workshops

The IEEE International Conference on Advanced Video and Signal-based Surveillance (AVSS) is the premier forum for the presentation of new advances and research results in the field of video and signal-based surveillance. The goal is to provide a game-changing and cross-disciplinary forum that brings together experts from academia, industry, and government to advance the frontiers of theories, methods, systems, and applications.

In conjunction with the main conference, AVSS typically offers workshops on specific topics and challenges related to video and signal-based surveillance of interest to community at large.

Prospective workshop organizers are invited to submit proposals via e-mail to the workshop chairs:

- Emily Hand (University of Nevada, Reno) — emhand@unr.edu
- Benjamin Riggan (University of Nebraska-Lincoln) — briggan2@unl.edu

no later than March 15, 2020.

Proposals should include the following:

- Workshop title
- Organizers (name, affiliation, and e-mail)
- Description of workshop topic(s)
- Expected workshop length
- Number of talks, posters, etc.
- Expected attendance
- Paper submission procedure
- Paper review procedure
- Paper review deadlines
- Space/Equipment (if any)

Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Surveillance in Smart Cities
- Biometrics (e.g., facial recognition)
- Human and Vehicle Surveillance
- Geospatial Surveillance
- Real-time or Distributed Systems
- Drone-based Surveillance
- Video Analytics
- Complex Activity Recognition
- Multi-modal Surveillance
- Privacy and Security
